WEEK-END.

The local trawlers and druggers did well over the week-end, and up to noon today had brought fares totaling over 50,000 pounds of mixed fish into port here, the largest being that of the dragger, St. Peter which had 15,000 pounds for the Producers' Company at the Fort.

The weather outside was more favorable for the boats and the gill netters succeeded in obtaining nearly 20,000 pounds of cod during the last two days, with the Enterprise leading the list with 3500.

EIGHT LOSE LIVES AS TRAWLER SINKS

Eight members of the crew of an Edinburgh trawler were drowned in the North Sea last night when their vessel was rammed and sunk by the Liverpool steamer Atheltarn.

One man seized the rail of the Atheltarn as the craft came together and hauled himself aboard. He leaned over the bow and pulled a friend up just as the trawler went down.

The Lobster Market.

Lobsters have been in light supply from Nova Scotia where fishing operations are now being conducted on a small scale. Last arrivals sold to wholesale dealers at $35 per crate. This compares with $49 per crate paid during the corresponding week last year.

EXPORTERS MEET AT ST. JOHN'S

N. F. ASSOCIATION OF FISH EX-
PORTERS DISCUSS PROBLEMS OF INDUSTRY.

A meeting of the Fish Exporters' Association was held recently at the Board or Trade. It is reported that D. James Davies, acting High Commissioner in London, is returning here to assume the direction of the Association in connection with the carrying out of regulations, etc. His salary is to be $5000 per year, paid by the association and the government. Before proceeding to London, Mr. Davies was government analyst. Certain proposed amendments to the present salt codfish act were approved by the meeting, and it is expected that during next season very definite progress will be made. It is not to be expected that new proposals will always meet with unanimous approval, and it is, therefore, not surprising that the appointment of Mr. Davies has inspired considerable criticism.

It is most encouraging to find that at last something is going to be done, and that our major industry is to be organized to meet competition by the adoption of much needed rules and regulations to govern quality, and, it is hoped, to regulate shipments. It is not to be expected that wonders will be worked overnight, but if unity is maintained among the fish exporters there is no doubt of the eventual success which must follow this most necessary co-operative effort. It is understood that association funds will be provided by an export tax on fish of two cents per quintal.—St. John's, N. F., Trade Review.

SEALING FLEET OFF ON CRUISE

The sealing fleet sailed for the ice-fields Monday, March 13, at noon. The Ranger, Ungava, Terra Nova, Imogene and Eagle left port in the order named, amid the tooting of sirens and the blowing of whistles. The crews cheered lustily, and as the ships passed the North Battery there was the customary salute of guns from the shore. The S. S. Beothic was detained until 9 p. m., owing to the late arrival of some of her crew from the North, and also because minor adjustments were necessary in the engine room. Although she was late in leaving the Beothic was given a good send-off, and volleys of musketry belched forth from the Battery. Before the ships sailed many young stowaways were put on shore. Some were found in the bunkers, others in pork barrels, and one lad was found in an ash tin. A message from the S. S. Ungava, on Monday night, stated that three stowaways were on board after the ship sailed.

According to a message received by Messrs. Bowring Bros., one stow-away, named Chesley Collins, of 34 Codner's lane, was reported by Capt. Badcock of the Ranger. There were three located on the Eagle after the ship put to sea, but they were landed at Pouch Cove.

Salt Mackerel.

Imports of salt mackerel at Boston from June 1 to date have been 2886 barrels as compared with 5681 barrels in 1932; 5242 barrels in 1931; 3013 barrels in 1930, 3920 barrels in 1929; and 12,247 barrels in 1928.

MAY HAVE TO LOWER

TARIFF ON SUPPLIES

The time when supplies for the fishery must be given out is fast approaching. We say "given" because in these days of uncertainty, the risk involved is great and many supplying merchants find it difficult to advance goods on long terms. It is in no spirit of criticism that we refer to the outstanding dole orders which at present are limiting the purchasing power of many merchants. It is, however, imperative that the government arrange for the payment of these orders without delay, if supplies are to be forthcoming at the proper time. It has been suggested that dole orders should be accepted in payment of customs duties, and there is much to be said in favor of such an arrangement. Many supplying merchants are owed large sums on dole account. It therefore is not easy to find ready cash to pay customs charges on incoming shipments, when capital is tied up for several months or more, with nothing but slips of paper to show for it.

The cost of catching fish is a prob-

Halifax Traffic Higher.

Considerable increase in the amount of cargo handled over Halifax Harbor Commission piers since January first is noted in a comparison with the similar period in 1932. This year 197,348.2 tons were handled, of which 132,055.1 were outward, against a total of 178,211.8 tons for the corresponding time last year. There was a drop in the figures for the week ending March 3 from 17,798.9 tons last year to 13,147.1 tons this year.

SPOKE ONE LONE CRAFT ON VOYAGE

Capt. Archie McLeod who brought the sch. Catherine to Boston yesterday with the fine fare of 70,000 pounds of halibut after a four weeks' trip on the Grand Banks, was in town overnight. He reports that outside of the high winds and choppy weather, the trip was an uneventful one, from the weather standpoint. Moreover it was a mighty lonely trip in that the vessel only spoke one craft on the entire journey. Capt. McLeod who has been fishing out of Gloucester for over 30 years, will bring the Catherine in port on Wednesday morning with her flag at half-mast.

The men, Leaman Conrad, married, Bridgewater, and John Williams, Newfoundland, lost their lives when their dory up-turned at 11 o'clock last Tuesday morning.

Capt. Arnold Parks, master, was unable to account for the tragedy. The weather was clear and several other vessels were fishing in the vicinity. He saw the dory's sail dip down into the water from the deck of the schooner and hastened to the scene. A dory, however, was the first to arrive, but no sign of the men was found. The search was continued several hours.

Overloading the dory is believed to have been the cause.

NEW CRAFT FOR CAPT. MORRISSEY

Ralph Nelson of Bearskin Neck, Rockport, is building a 40-foot open boat for Capt. Clayton E. Morrissey of this port. Indications point to the launching being held within the next three weeks. Capt. Morrissey, who sailed sch. Henry Ford in the fishermen's races, several years ago, and who has fished out of this port for many years, will sail in his new craft which he has not named as yet. With him will be his son, Bert Morrissey.

Notice to Mariners.

The superintendent of lighthouses, Portland, Me., announces the following: Seacoast, Me. — Boon Island Ledge lighted Whistle Buoy, 22A, reported extinguished March 18, 1933, will be relighted as soon as practicable. (Light List, Atlantic Coast and Local Light List, New England Coast, 1932, No. 101.)

Portland News.

Heavy seas and high winds kept the fishing fleet and all small craft in port yesterday.

The coasting schooner Annie and Reuben remained at anchor off the breakwater, the Coast Guard patrol boat Antietam was still tied up at the Maine state pier, the Cape Elizabeth Coast Guardsmen brought their surfboat into the harbor for shelter, the lighthouse tender Hibiscus moved to the old Boston boat slip from the end of Custom House wharf, the lighter Rocket postponed her trial run and the lobster smack Willard and Daggett put back to port when she was unable to make headway to her way toward Grand Manan.

Has Good Catch.

Trawler Lemberg arrived at Halifax over the week-end from the banks with about 120,000 pounds of fish for the National Fish company.

Floating at Sea.

Capt. William B. Ewan, master of the British motorship Peisander, arriving Monday from the Orient, reported to the hydrographic office yesterday that on Sunday, in latitude 36.42 north, longitude 61.16 west, he passed a 16-inch pipeline, attached to two floating pontoons, 40 feet in length, forming a dangerous obstruction. At first it was mistaken for a seaplane that had been forced down. All stations were notified by radio, so that word could be broadcast to other ships.

Will Go Halibuting.

Capt. Simon Theriault expects to go halibuting in sch. American, which he recently purchased, either today or tomorrow. The American was formerly one of the Davis Brothers boats, then went to Nova Scotia parties, where it was re-christened the Roy M. Capt. Theriault has given the vessel a new jumbo and foresail and a thorough repairing, making her one of the finest looking ships around here.

Crew Ask Pay.

The excursion steamer King Philip, familiar to thousands of New Englanders owing to its daily trips to the fishing banks during the summer months, was libelled by six members of the crew yesterday for wages. The crew claims that $1570 is due them.

Those who brought the libel include John J. Dixon, Jr., first mate; Francis M. Griffin, Clayton L. Vose, Clarence A. Carter, William F. Dacey and Bertram H. Gavell.

NOT A FARE OF ANY KIND TODAY

WEATHER SO BAD THAT CRAFT HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO FISH.

The fish were given a brief respite yesterday when the high wind kept the fishermen ashore, and not a fare was reported, even the gill netters being among the empty-hold fraternity. Even today the smaller boats turned back when the weather-man failed to satisfy. Better luck tomorrow!

Sailed.

Leretha, dragging.
Ruth Lucille, trawling.
Elk, haddocking.

On the Railways.

Coast Guard boat 176 on Rocky Neck railways for painting and general overhauling.

St. Rosalie on Parkhurst's Marine railways for general overhauling.

Going Trawling.

Capt. Allan Voss is getting the power boat, Mona E., ready for trawling.

Lighter Reconditioned.

Reconditioned since being bought at a marshal's sale, February 16, the steam lighter Rocket, seized at Boothbay Harbor December 15, last, with a cargo of liquor in her hold, will take her first run this week, her owner, Capt. Percy Farmer said Monday. The lighter will go outside to dump her ashes and will not take her trial run until later this month. Captain Farmer intends to use the vessel in the coastwise trade.

Recent Storm Damage.

The recent storm has caused a lot of damage to the lobster fishermen's gear at Yarmouth Bar, N. S. Traps are piled along the shore, some of the fishermen not being able to find 10 in a hundred. Tuesday and Saturday the strongest gales were prevalent and the coldest weather was experienced this winter. The fishermen have been hard hit by the storm. This, coupled with the general depression makes it hard for the people, especially the fishermen.

N. S. Lobster Boats.

The fishermen at Cheticamp, N. S., are busy mending old nets, making a few new ones, and also making and repairing lobster traps, so as to be ready for the season next spring. It is not known what the coming season will bring forth but it is to be hoped that this season will be better for our hardy toilers than that of 1932. The majority of fishermen are having a struggle to live during the hard times, but if they can tide over the winter the month of May will bring relief to those engaged in the lobster industry.

SEVENTEEN IN BOSTON FLEET

HEAVY RECEIPTS OF CODFISH
THIS MORNING—HADDOCK
PRICE IS UP.

The Boston market had a large supply of nearly all varieties of fresh fish this morning. Seventeen vessels arrived with 780,000 pounds of groundfish and 106,000 pounds of mixed fish. Codfish dominated the supply, steamers from the eastward bringing large fares of this variety. Haddock price was up a little and sold at $3.50 to $4; large cod for $2 to $2.25; and markets, $2.25.

Shipments of southern shad and western salmon were included in the day's miscellaneous receipts yesterday.

PEAK PRICE FOR SCALLOPS

Digby, N. S., scallop boats were on the fishing grounds Friday night after an enforced layup of several days, on account of high winds which made dragging impossible. Scallops brought $3.50 per gallon in the American market a few days ago. This is the peak price since three years ago when the industry was enjoying an unprecedented period of prosperity. It is reported that the scallop fishermen of Grand Manan are making real money this season.

It looks like improvement in the fishing industry. It is understood that stocks of dried fish, that have been stored in the fish houses at Tiverton, are beginning to move. Stocks have been sold to Halifax firms and it is reported that the fish intended for export, will be shipped to the city.

Portland News.

Ten vessels landed nearly 93,000 pounds of groundfish at Portland Monday after the best day's fishing in nearly two months. The Benjamin Thompson, Capt. GRAND MARSHAL AT ST. PIERRE FOR REFITTING

Sch. Grand Marshal, Capt. Albert Grimes, which has been halibuting for the past six weeks, was reported at St. Pierre, Miquelon, about 10 days ago by Capt. Carl Olson in the Loretta Spinney. At the time, Capt. Grimes had only succeeded in bringing in 5000 pounds of halibut, and had made port to fit his vessel again. He sailed again for the Grand Banks to try his luck once more, and intends to return with a real catch.

EXPECT TO REACH DERELICT TODAY

With the return of good weather the Coast Guard cutter Cayuga is expected to reach today.

Coast Guard officials believe the wreck is the schooner Frederick J. Lovat, which has been missing for the past three months. Capt. Maher of the Boston fishing trawler Ocean, radioed the Branch Hydrographic office in the customhouse that he sighted wreckage dangerous to navigation yesterday. It is believed that the wreckage is the derelict for which the Cayuga is searching.
